Made In The U.S.A. from American Leather

GETTING THE RIGHT SIZE BELT WHEN YOU CAN'T TRY IT ON

USING A BELT THAT FITS TO OBTAIN THE SIZE YOU WANT

- If you have a belt that fits the way you like, use it to determine the size that you need
Lay the belt flat and measure the distance in inches from the hole that you are using to where the belt folds around the buckle

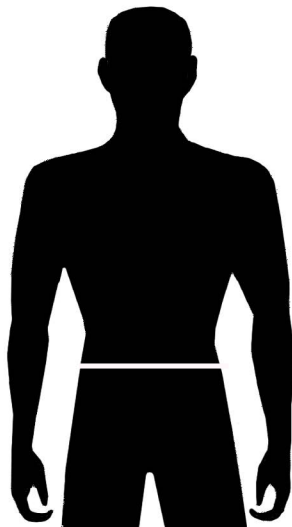

- This number is your correct belt size. If the measurement number is an odd size, order the next even size.
(if your belt measures a 31 order a 32)

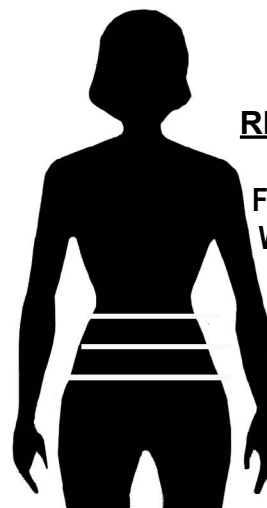

IF YOU DON'T HAVE A BELT THAT FITS

1. Measure your waist. This is most accurate by actually running the tape measure through your belt loops. A soft tape measure works best but any tape measure will work.
2. Make sure to measure at the waist level you intend to wear the belt.
3. This number is your correct belt size. If the measurement is an odd size, order the next even size.
(if you measure a 31, order a size 32 belt).

PORTUGUESE CORK BILLET BELT

1-1/4" Cork And Bridle Leather Belts

TORY HAS ADDED CORK AS A MATERIAL TO WORK WITH
BECAUSE IT SHARES MANY OF THE VALUES OF QUALITY LEATHER

- Each piece is beautifully unique
- The harvesting process is manually intensive and depends greatly on the skill of the people completing it.
- It is Environmentally Friendly
- It is a Renewable Resource
- Cork is Surprisingly Durable
- It is Scratch, Stain and Water Resistant

WHAT IS UNIQUE ABOUT CORK?

It is the outer bark of the Evergreen Oak Tree (Cork Oak) and after the bark is stripped away by an experienced cork stripper, the tree will regenerate its outer bark. A single Oak Cork can have its bark harvested a dozen or more times in a normal 150 - 200 year life. The process has been shown to improve the life of the tree and the proper harvesting is credited with preventing land degradation and employing 100,000 people. The largest of the world's Cork Oak Forests are located in Spain and Portugal and although cork's primary application is in the wine industry it has experienced growth in the fashion and home furnishing industries.

NAUTICAL LINE BELTS

Tory Leather Company was started by a horseman who sold horse equipment for other companies. He wanted to start his own business to make a line the way he thought it should be made. Today he is into antique Wooden Boats and boating so has expanded the line to include belts for the Nautical Industry. We use a ribbon with Nautical Flags, American Tanned English Bridle Leather, the best you can buy, and the same quality webbing that we use on our horse equipment so you know that it has strength and durability. Even though this line is designed for the Nautical Industry we have found that the bright colored ribbon and the combination of Cotton Web and English Bridle Leather appeal to non-boating people also.

Our belts are Made in the U.S.A. from American Leather
